THE WORLD'S WEEKLY ADVANCE REPORT aims to present a complete list of the most important textile news of the week, giving its subscribers an opportunity of communicating with such parties as they see fit, usually before orders are placed. Much of the news reported is exclusive with us, and we avail ourselves of every possible source of information. We cannot guarantee the correctness of all news, as we are obliged to rely largely on our correspondents.

FOR WEEK ENDING JANUARY 13, 1894.

New Mills.

Woolen.

—ONTARIO, Almonte. A new blanket factory has been started at this place by J. H. Wylie and D. Shaw, under the firm name of Wylie & Shaw. The mill will have two sets of cards and six looms at start, but will soon add four more looms. Water power will be used.

—*WISCONSIN, Boscobel. The Boscobel Woolen Mills Co., which we previously reported had been incorporated by E. Stickler and E. A. Stickler, with capital of $18,000, are now erecting their mill, we are officially informed, and are in the market for some second hand machinery, among which they mention one Bramwell Feed.

Knit.

—ILLINOIS, Chicago. The Paramount Knitting Co. has been incorporated at this place. Capital stock $10,000. The incorporators are William C. Malley, Charles Lederer and Fred P. Gorin.

—NEW HAMPSHIRE, Milton Mills. In regard to the hosiery factory which we previously reported at this place, we are officially informed that it will be known as the Shipley Hosiery & Dyeing Co. They are now starting the manufacture of ladies' cotton hose, and will probably make at first about fifty dozen per day. As the name implies, they will also carry on dyeing.

—NEW YORK, New York. Messrs. Doudiet & Plate have started to manufacture sweaters and novelties at 51 Lispenard St. Their company will be known as the Prospect Knitting Co.

—ONTARIO, Almonte. D. M. Fraser is starting up a new knitting factory. The mill will contain two sets of cards and will manufacture medium and fine shirts and drawers.

—PENNSYLVANIA, Philadelphia. Messrs. Moorhouse & Maddis have started a small plant for the manufacture of hosiery at 3942 North Fifth St.

Miscellaneous.

—KANSAS, Newton. The Berggren Bros. have established a job dyeing establishment on East Fifth St., at this place.

—MASSACHUSETTS, Fall River. A new company, called the Belmont Mfg. Co., has been incorporated to manufacture cloth, yarns, ropes, etc. Capital $50,000.

—*MASSACHUSETTS, New Bedford. The projectors of the new waste mill at this place are actively engaged in their preliminary plans. As it was previously reported, Mr. Byron S. Caswell is the chief promoter of the enterprise, and those who are interested with him are active and successful men. The new company will probably be known as the New Bedford Cotton Waste Co. According to present plans it will be the finest of its kind in this country. Their main building will be 60 by 125 ft. two stories high, with a storehouse 75 by 100 ft., three stories high. They will have a 100 H. P. engine, with boilers of 150 H. P. capacity. The foundation for the plant will be started about the first of February, and will take some months in building on account of the completeness which is intended to characterise the plant. It will be filled with the most improved English machinery for the manufacture of fine grades of waste yarns for warps and machinery waste. A side track is being laid on their land forking from the Fall River branch of the Old Colony line.

—QUEBEC, Montreal. Edwin Richardson, under the firm name of E. Richardson & Co., has registered as a manufacturer of silk cord and tassels.

Enlargements and Improvements.

Cotton.

—ALABAMA, Anniston. Preparations have been commenced for the erection of an addition to the Anniston Mfg. Co. This new building will be 44 by 110 feet, two stories high and will be used principally for preparing machinery. The mill will be provided with new and modern machinery where it is needed, and the cost of the proposed improvements is estimated to be about $50,000.

—*MASSACHUSETTS, Fall River. The additions at the Weetamoe Mill, which we reported some months ago, have been completed. The mill has been equipped with new and modern machinery. The total number of spindles at present is 44,260; looms, 1131.

—SOUTH CAROLINA, Rock Hill. The Rock Hill Cotton Factory Co. are making additions to their plant. They have contracted for 192 Stafford looms, which will be put in at once. They expect also to spin finer numbers for making print cloths.

—SOUTH CAROLINA, Newberry. The directors of the Newberry Cotton Mills will increase their capital stock from $250,000 to $400,000 and will greatly enlarge their building.

Woolen.

—MAINE, Guilford. The Piscataquis Woolen Co. have made a new addition to their mill. The structure is 133 by 56 feet, brick, four stories high. There is also a separate machine shop 27 by 32 feet, three stories high and a picker room 27 by 106 feet. A dye house has been built 32 by 56 feet.

—ONTARIO, Kingsville. Brown & Wigle, flannels, blankets, yarn and hosiery, are adding new machinery to their plant as their present capacity is not sufficient to meet the requirements of their business. They will also put up a new bleach house larger than the one they have at present.

—RHODE ISLAND, Manton. The Kimball woolen mill at this place is to be closed down. The weaving machinery is being taken out and will be replaced by new.

Knit.

—NEW YORK, Broadalbin. The shoddy plant of the Broadalbin Knitting Co. which we reported was burned last November, is being rebuilt.

—ONTARIO, Almonte. The Almonte Knitting Co. will add two new sets of cards to their plant, with additional knitting machinery to correspond. They are also erect a new Balmoral machine.

—ONTARIO, Hamilton. The Eagle Knitting Co., J. R. & J. Moodie, Jr., proprietors, have just completed their new building, this being the third addition to their factory within four years. This company employ over 200 hands and is the largest of its kind in the Dominion.

—PENNSYLVANIA, Reading. W. H. & S. B. Romig, formerly at Denglers, have removed their plant to Reading, where they expect to begin operations about May 1st. They run on half hose, cotton and wool, 128 needles goods; 36 machines. Steam power will be used and about 40 hands will be employed. This company was obliged to remove their plant from Denglers because of their inability to get enough water to do their own dyeing.

Miscellaneous.

—MASSACHUSETTS, Millbury. Whitney, MacDuff & Co. have placed a contract for the building of a drying room to their thread mill.

—RHODE ISLAND, Pawtucket. The Robert D. Mason Co., bleachers and dyers of cotton yarns, have recently removed to their new works, where they have increased and improved their facilities. They are running five days a week. This firm was established in 1805, and is one of the oldest firms in this line in the country.

Mills Starting Up.

Cotton.

—MASSACHUSETTS, Taunton. The Nemasket Mills have started up on full time with a full force. The managers say they see busy times ahead.

—NEW YORK, Utica. The Mohawk Valley Cotton Mills started up January 8, on full time, giving employment to about 350 hands.

—NORTH CAROLINA, McAdensville. The McAden Mills, which have been shut down for some weeks, having a new water wheel put in, will now start up again.

—PENNSYLVANIA, Chester. The Lewis cotton mills have started up, and will probably run on full time with nearly a full force of hands.

Woolen.

—CONNECTICUT, Putnam. The Putnam Woolen Co. have resumed operations in part. They have been shut down for six months.
